

"Beautifully finished but richly emotional" - Boston Globe

"That rara avis -- a world-class concert choir" - Washington Post

"Seamless ensemble, seductive phrasing" - Los Angeles Times

"Beautiful, affecting music" - Chicago Tribune

"Expert renditions of Gregorian chant" - New York Times

"Ms. Patterson is a true choral alchemist" - American Record Guide

"Perfectly captures the exultation in every note" – Fanfare

"Richly rewarding, generously programmed - a real treat" - ClassicsToday.com

"They sing with absolute fluency and authority" – Gramophone

"This recording plays the dynamic contrasts and consequent emotive tension to the hilt" - Audiophile Audition

Gloriæ Dei Cantores (Singers to the Glory of God) holds a passionate dedication to illuminate truth and beauty through choral artistry, celebrating a rich tradition of sacred choral music from Gregorian chant through the twenty-first century. The choir has received extensive critical acclaim for its artistic elegance, performance authenticity, and compelling spirituality. Sharing its vision of inspiration and hope, Gloriæ Dei Cantores has toured extensively, touching the hearts of audiences in 24 countries in Europe, Asia, and North America.

Director Elizabeth Patterson has led the choir in a number of world premieres, and appeared on the concert stage and in recordings with Keith Lockhart, John Williams, Samuel Adler, Mark O'Conner, Stephen Cleobury, Vladimir Minin, and the late George Guest, Mary Berry, and Margaret Hillis, among others. Highlights of the choir's career include three invitational tours of Russia, the opening of the 900th anniversary of St. Mark's Basilica in Venice, live broadcasts with the BBC, the soundtrack of Lorenzo's Oil, eight holiday tours with the Boston Pops, and performances in some of the finest concert halls throughout Europe and the United States. Its discography of 40 recordings is distributed through Harmonia Mundi, USA.

Gloriæ Dei Cantores makes its home on Cape Cod, at the Church of the Transfiguration in Orleans, MA.